

Basta!

brute

Cantor

Cossack

challah

dotty

A savagely violent person or animal.

A Sicilian term for "That's enough!"

In the late 19th and early 20th centuries, the Russian Tsarist regime employed these people to terrorize Jewish communities.

The religious official of a synagogue who conducts portions of a service. They sing or chant all or parts of prayers.

A crazy or eccentric person.

A loaf of white bread leavened with yeast. It is often braided before baking and prepared especially for the Jewish Sabbath.

Dobroye
utro

dowry

gullible

immigrant

knead

muslin

The money, goods, or estate that a wife brings to her husband at marriage.

Russian phrase for good morning.

A person who migrates to another country, usually for permanent residence.

A trusting person who is easily deceived.

A cotton fabric with a plain weave.

To work dough into a uniform mixture by pressing, folding, and stretching.

pantomime

picilidda

pinafore

pogrom

pomade

Rabbi

A Sicilian word
meaning little girl.

A speechless expression that represents something using extravagant and
exaggerated mime,
movements, or gestures.

An organized massacre
that targeted peasants
and Jewish communities in Russia
and Eastern Europe.

A sleeveless apron
young girls and women wore over a
dress and was
sometimes trimmed
with ruffles.

The chief religious official of a Jewish synagogue, who
delivers the sermons
and performs
ritualistic functions.

Scented ointment
used for the scalp or hair dressing.

Sabbath

shape up

shiksa

schlepper

Sicily

sift

An expression longshoreman used to report to work at the docks to be chosen by the foreman.

A day of prayer or rest . The Christian Sabbath is on Sunday whereas Saturday is the Sabbath for Jewish persons.

A person who carries and delivers large piles of wares, clothing, or piecework.

A term used by Jewish persons to refer to a woman who is not Jewish.

To separate and retain the coarse parts of flour with a sieve-like tool.

An Italian regional island in the Mediterranean, It is the largest island in the Mediterranean.

strega

tendrils

tepid

ved'ma

yeast

Yiddish

Thin ringlets of hair that hang loose and away from the main part of a hair style.

An Italian word for witch.

A Russian word for witch.

Moderately warm; lukewarm

A Germanic language of Ashkenazi Jews spoken in eastern and central Europe.

A commercial product containing living cells that is used in baking to make dough rise.